about

I am a software engineer with ~8 years of experience building products across different tech stacks. I've worked on both frontend and backend projects: designing, building, and maintaining a variety of tech products, especially in fintech. I'm all about end-to-end involvement —from brainstorming and writing code to QA testing. I've enjoyed shaping the product roadmap and building strong relationships across functions, but my real passion is being hands-on where I can dig into the code.
